Our Mission

The Urban Assembly School for the Performing Arts (UASPA) aims to sustain a challenging college preparatory curriculum that infuses the performing arts into all aspects of the academic experience. By using the arts as a teaching tool providing students with the means to express themselves, UASPA will breathe life and creativity into all subjects and build confidence in all members of our school community. We will use the cultural and professional resources of New York City to ensure that students receive a rigorous education which exceeds state standards, are successful in earning a college degree, and have a vision for what the future holds.
